The third season of Stranger Things is finally coming out and it's going to be awesome. If you're a teenager, then there's a great chance that you've watched this 80s-themed TV series about the group of teens including the girl with powers (Eleven) and don't forget: The parallel universe otherwise known as the "Upside Down"--which Will, apart of the teen group, has visions of.

Anyways, this great show has been, and still is, very popular for only being its first 2 seasons. Season 3 will come out the 4th of July this year and fans are pumped. They love the 80s-themed summer outfits shown in the new trailer, as well as the closer friendships between some characters. In the trailer, the older kids have summer jobs: Nancy and Jonathon are reporters for the local newspaper, Steve works at an ice cream parlor, and Billy is a lifeguard.

Meanwhile, Eleven, Will, and the rest of the gang are trying to have fun for the summer. Eleven and Max grow closer, as well as Dustin and Steve, and it looks like a good bit of drama, especially with the new monsters finding a new place to creep about: The local mall.

Overall, the trailer for Stranger Things 3 looks crazier than the last two seasons combined with a side of teenage drama and fans are going crazy.
