

What Do Freshmen Think About High School?

By: Savannah Miller, Grade 10

Logan High School (New Building).

When going into your freshman year it can be a little tough. There are many things that change a lot between middle school and high school.

A big change is having to use your locker everyday, to having the choice of carrying your stuff around with you at all times.

There are many more activities that you can participate in. As well as more opportunities for you as a student here at LHS. With the transfer to the high school from middle school, it can be difficult for some. How are the freshman feeling about the year here so far?

I interviewed freshman Trinity Cade, "I wasn't really concerned about starting high school other than it was just a new building to me. I really like that we have a few upperclassmen in some of our classes because it gives us the chance to meet other people. Also, in my opinion, the food is a lot better at the high school and there are a lot more items to choose from. My favorite thing about high school so far is that I have the chance to get closer with my friends that are upperclassmen." Some people have different thoughts. Emily Chaffin says, "I was not nervous to start high school" (grade 9).

According to Freshman Ian Shields, "Yeah because I mean everyone is nervous to start someplace new and the high school is a big place, so I obviously expected to be a little nervous. Plus, I was expecting the workload to increase. If I had to chose, I would say I like the high school a lot better in about every way. My favorite thing about high school so far would probably be how we get so much more freedom to do what we want such as being able to get on our phones in the hallways, and we aren't watched over with everything we do."

If you ever need help and don't want to ask someone on the school staff, you can always find an upperclassman.
